Federating 5 sectors

Through its 5 national syndicates,
Fipecc represents the following industries:

- AFCALC: art, leisure and education colours
- AFCI: printing inks
- AFCAM: glues, adhesives, sealants and expanding foams
- SIPEV: paints, coatings, and varnishes
- SNFORES: synthetic resins

Our mission: to bring together the highest number to promote our professions, inform public decision-making and contribute to the long-term future of the industrial activities.

Fipecc harnesses collective power to face its members' day-to-day challenges.

Faced with environmental, social and societal transitions, the industries represented by Fipecc more than ever have a fundamental role to play.

Committed to improving our everyday lives

Fipecc and its members work together to improve people's everyday lives by transforming, protecting and embellishing.

Acting in favour of the ecological transition

As decarbonization and sustainability players, we:

- innovate to boost downstream performance,
- contribute to reducing energy wastage and improving living comfort,
- optimise resources and develop recycling.

We put health and safety first and:

- develop ever more virtuous products,
- strengthen prevention by disseminating good practice.

Supporting innovation and progressive R&D

Calling for support for positive approaches, we:

- encourage performance,
- call for a framework that encourages innovation and R&D to meet major challenges.

Supporting industrial sovereignty

To re-establish the sector's role, we:

- fight regulatory overload and its deadlocks,
- provide economic analysis to support decision-making,
- defend jobs in the regions and work on a tax system that is better adapted to the sector,
- support the industry's future.

Boosting local employment

To make the industry more dynamic and attractive, we:

- make our industries' professions more attractive and step up employee training,
- favour recruitment.

Contributing to industrial relations

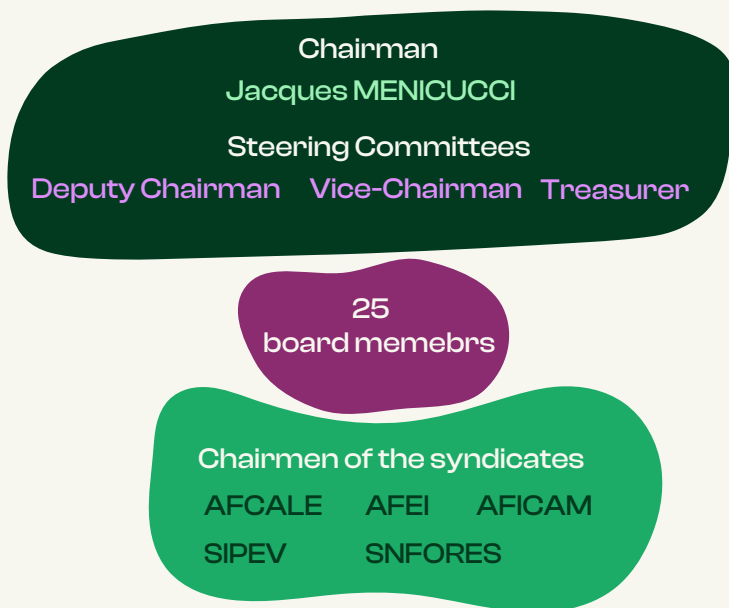

Committed to representativeness, we:

- have signed the collective agreement for the chemical industries,
- take part in industry negotiations and agreements.
